

featuring
Ed Helms
&
Koolhaas

[illegible]

Nigerian author and activist, Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie, comes to DOYENNE to explain what it is to be a leader. She wants to express how the inauguration shouldn't stop us from being leaders. Now that Trump is the new president (dictator), Chimanda believes that this is a time of anxiety and uncertainty which challenges the ideal American optimism. With her elegant words and powerful message Chimamanda is giving her voice for women all around the world. Ladies, it's time to rise.

BRAVA!

Compared to his rival, Hilary Clinton, and a man much greater than him, Barack Obama. I feel as though the lyrics fit perfectly with how Trump views himself, his business, and his thoughts on being the new President of the United States. In the film score of Dr. Seuss' The Lorax, How Bad Can I Be? Visualizes and vocalizes the distress one man arrogances and his lack of empathy does to a once beautiful world.

[illegible]

APRIL 2
Philips Arena
Atlanta, GA

APRIL 5
Sprint Center
Kansas City, MO

APRIL 8
Key Arena
Seattle, WA

APRIL 9
Moda Center
Portland, OR

APRIL 11
Santa Barbara Bowl
Santa Barbara, CA

APRIL 14
The Wiltern
Los Angeles, CA

APRIL 17
Greek Theatre
Berkeley, CA

APRIL 18
Greek Theatre
Berkeley, CA

APRIL 21
Coachella Festival
Indio, CA

MAY 6
Electric Factory
Philadelphia, PA

MAY 7
House of Blues
Boston, MA

MAY 9
Webster Theater
Hartford, CT

MAY 11
Playstation Theater
New York, NY

MAY 14
City Field
Flushing, NY

MAY 16
The Fillmore
Silver Spring, MD

MAY 18
Baltimore
Soundstage
Baltimore, MD

MAY 20
The Underground
Charlotte, NC

MAY 23
The Ritz
Raleigh, NC

MAY 28
House of Blues
Houston, TX

JUNE 2
Ford Field
Detroit, MI

JUNE 5
Soldier Field
Chicago, IL

JUNE 7
Marlins Park
Miami, FL

JUNE 9
Raven's Stadium
Baltimore, MD

JUNE 12
Live Casino
Hanover, MD

How bad can this possibly be?